

MOTION TO REVIEW DAUGHERTY CASE IS REFUSED BY SUPREME COURT IN DECISION ON WEDNESDAY

DEMOCRAT STAR NOW ASCENDING

Texas Goes All Democrat to Increase Lead in Congress to Four

DRY ISSUE REVIVED

Party Chairman Reiterates Plea for Referendum

Washington, Nov. 25.—(P)—Democratic organization of the new house appears certain as a result of the party's victory in the fourteenth Texas congressional district yesterday at a special election.

Election of Richard M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi, Democrat, gave his party a majority of one in the House membership of 435.

The new lineup: Democrats 218; Republicans 214; Farmer Laborite one; two vacancies.

The outcome encouraged the democratic membership as the leaders laid plans to elect Representative John N. Nornér, of Texas, as speaker, and take over the House after thirteen years of Republican domination.

The Texas election attracted nationwide attention because of the close division of party power and the effect it would have on House organization.

President Hoover and Mr. Garner scanned the returns, as they struggled in from the district that had been held by the Republicans since the Harding landslide in 1920.

The election was held to fill the vacancy created by the death of Representative Harry M. Wurzbach, lone Republican from the Lone Star state. Wurzbach was entering his sixth term.

Kleberg won over a field of eight, including seven Democrats, and one Republican, C. W. Anderson, of San Antonio. He had a substantial lead over his nearest opponent, Cal Wright Johnson, of San Antonio, Democrat, on the basis of incomplete returns.

The election also was a victory for the anti-prohibitionists. The former cowboy as well as Johnson, advocated modification of the eighteenth amendment.

TEXAS ALL-DEMOCRAT

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 25.—(P)—Richard M. Kleberg, a Democrat won the position of representative in Congress left vacant by the death of Harry M. Wurzbach, Seguin, Tex., Republican. His plurality in the election yesterday was approximately 5,000 votes.

In retrieving for democracy the Texas desk that has been occupied by Wurzbach for 11 years, the Lone Star delegation once more becomes solid in its Jeffersonian political faith.

The Texas victory moved the House Democratic membership plurality up to four and virtually clinched the speakership for John N. Garner of Uvalde, Tex., whose district adjoins the fourteenth.

C. W. Anderson of San Antonio, choice of Republican leaders as a candidate to succeed Wurzbach ran third. Carl Wright Johnson, Democrat, of San Antonio, was runner-up to Kleberg.

With all counties reporting the standing of the three major contenders in a field of eight, was Kleberg, 18,866, Johnson, 13,752, and Anderson, 5,586.

Both Kleberg and Johnson had declared for modification of the eighteenth amendment. Anderson called for law enforcement.

WET DRY ISSUE PUSHED

Washington, Nov. 25.—(P)—John J. Raskob wants the Democratic party to endorse resubmission of the eighteenth amendment to the people, but not to take a stand for or against prohibition.

Thus the chairman of the party's national committee clarified his position yesterday, as criticism kept mounting against his insistence on thrusting the wet-dry question forward.

"I strongly feel," he said in (Continued On Page Six.)

EQUALIZATION AND DEBENTURE PLANS FOR FARM RELIEF AGAIN PUSHED TO FRONT IN SENATE

Washington, November 25.—(P)—The twice vetoed equalization fee plan of farm relief was advanced to the senate agriculture committee today by the American Farm Bureau Federation as part of a "uniform" program for strengthening the agricultural marketing act.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the federation, urged enactment of the equalization fee, but left a way open to compromise with other plans.

"Other amendments to the act have been suggested," O'Neal said, "I believe that Farm Bureau leaders are ready to merge our position on the fee principle with other proper plans."

O'Neal was apparently referring to the export debenture plan, which had been advanced by the National Grange. It is now proposed to authorize both and let the Farm Board take its choice.

"The American Farm Bureau Federation was not the author of the marketing act and did not sponsor its enactment into law," O'Neal said. "We have, however, given it 100 per cent support in the effort to demonstrate its usefulness. After two years, the board's activities have revealed that the act is not adequate to control surpluses. Accordingly, the American Farm Bureau Federation is desirous of securing an amendment to the act which will permit use of the equalization fee principle to aid in making the tariff effective on farm crops. The common co-operatives, working with the Farm Board, should apply the fee principle of distributing the cost of operation over the entire crop."

O'Neal also proposed a congressional investigation of the Farm Board.

"An investigation," he said, "is to be desired from the congressional, the public and Farm Board points of view. It will clear the air and strengthen the position of the Farm Board."

Cold Wave Sweeping on Eastward — Unseasonal "Spring" Passes on

MERCURY TAIL SPINS

Mountain States Dig Out from Snow Blanket

Cleveland, O., Nov. 25.—(P)—The weather man scaled down to a more normal November weight in Ohio today.

In Cleveland, where the thermometer reached a high of 70 yesterday and set a new record for that date, heavy rains sent the mercury into a tailspin, and below freezing weather is due by tonight.

Snow flurries also were in prospect as the west's cold weather moved eastward.

Temperatures elsewhere in the state likewise took a tumble from yesterday's balmy weather, generally in the high 60's. At Cincinnati where it was 68, nurserymen said forsythia and iris, early spring flowers, were in bloom and tulips were an inch above the ground months ahead of schedule.

COLD SWEEPS EASTWARD
Kansas City, Nov. 25.—(P)—A cold wave that has swept western states for almost a week is moving into territory far east of the Mississippi valley, restoring atmospheric conditions to seasonal normalcy.

Weather observers forecast showers and lower temperatures today generally throughout the east, which has enjoyed a period of unusual warmth.

Conditions of winter prevailed in the Pacific coast and the Rocky Mountain region. Clearing weather was forecast for the midwest, but temperatures remained low. Heavy rainfall had ceased after swelling several rivers to flood stage.

Snow caused trouble for motorists, wire crews and railroad men in the area extending eastward through North Dakota and Minnesota. A high wind, forerunner of

FORMER BANKER WINS FIGHT TO GET CLEAR OF CONVICTION IN COURT OF FAYETTE COUNTY

Columbus, O., Nov. 25.—(A. P.)—The State Supreme Court today refused to review the ruling of the Appellate Court granting a new trial to Mal S. Daugherty.

The court also overruled a motion of the Fayette county prosecuting attorney, Norman L. McLean, for leave to file a petition in error from the Appellate judgment.

The action requires that Daugherty be given a second trial on four of the five counts of the indictment.

The Supreme Court also affirmed the appellate court ruling absolutely Daugherty on the count which charged misapplication of the credit of the bank.

The decision of the Supreme court announced Wednesday evening, refusing to grant the motion of the state for a review of the judgment of reversal rendered by the Akron district Circuit Court of Appeals judges in the Daugherty case, did not come wholly as a surprise to interested Fayette countians.

It will be remembered that judgment of the Akron district Appeals Court judges reversed the judgment entered in the Common Pleas court, by which Daugherty was found guilty of criminality in mishandling the funds of the defunct Ohio State Bank, while he was its president and chief executive officer.

The trial in the Common Pleas court was presided over by Judge Charles S. Bell of Cincinnati, assigned to try the case by Chief Justice Carrington T. Marshall of the Ohio Supreme Court, after Daugherty had filed an affidavit charging that Judge H. M. Rankin was biased and prejudiced.

When the case was taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals by Daugherty seeking a reversal of the judgment of conviction, the members of this court, Judges Allread, Kunkle and Hornbeck, declined to sit in the case and, on their request, Court of Appeals Judges Pardee, Funk and Washburn of the Akron district were assigned here by order of Judge Hamilton, of Cincinnati, who is the presiding judge of the Courts of Appeal in Ohio.

The judgment entered by the Appellate Court, reversing the Common Pleas Court judgment of conviction came as a complete surprise to people.

Railroads Offer New Aid Ideas

Four-Point Program Is Topped by Request for $100,000,000 Fund

Washington, Nov. 25.—(P)—A four point program asking relief for the more than 500 short line railroads in the United States, was laid before President Hoover today by 22 representatives of these roads.

As an emergency measure, the delegation asked the President to urge upon Congress a law providing a revolving fund of more than $100,000,000 out of which loans could be made to short line roads.

The second point asked repeal of the recapture clause of the Interstate Commerce act, providing that one-half of all profits in excess of 6 per cent be turned over to the government.

The third and fourth points asked government regulation of bus and truck transportation, and the placing of inland waterways affairs under the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Bird M. Robinson, president of the American Short Line Railroad Association, reported the president "appeared sympathetic."

The Chief Executive asked questions concerning the association's proposal, and appeared to Robinson to have a thorough "understanding" of the situation.

The proposals were put forward as a request by the short lines to be included "as part of any plan he (President Hoover) may have for rehabilitating the credit of the railroads." The Chief Executive met the delegation in the cabinet room of the executive mansion.

The railroad wage situation was not discussed.

Those present included seven presidents, vice presidents or general managers of short lines in the eastern region, five from the southern region, three from the midwest, four from the southwest, and one from the Pacific coast.

In addition there was President Robinson and John T. Cochran, chairman of the association, and president of the Alabama, Tennessee and Northern railroad, with headquarters at Mobile, Ala.

MAYSVILLE BRIDGE FORMALLY OPENED

Aberdeen, O., Nov. 25.—(P)—The dedication of a new $1,750,000 bridge over the Ohio river, connecting this city with Maysville, Ky., today marked the culmination of years of planning for the structure to replace a ferry that served throughout the time.

Jane Young, four-year-old daughter of State Senator Allie W. Young, of Morehead, Ky., held the honor of formally opening the bridge to traffic, being designated to cut the ribbon in the center of the structure in the presence of representatives of Kentucky and Ohio. Governor White of Ohio, and Governor-elect Ruby Laffoon, of Kentucky, attended.

The Maysville chapter of the D. A. R. had a leading part in the program of dedicating the bridge to the memory of Simon Kenton, first pioneer settler in this region.

Russian Plot Once More Complicates Situation

By The Associated Press.

Japanese forces in Manchuria, distributed over a wide area, include naval vessels at Chinwangtao, troops at Mukden, moving south, inactive troops in the An-schich-Tsitsihar sector, and marine detachments which Chinese dispatches reported enroute from Chinwangtao to Shanhaikwan.

MR. GLAD IS BACK AGAIN

New York's Cold and Hungry Told to Keep Their Nerve and Not Give Up as He Passes Out Food and Drink.

By MORRIS WATSON

New York, Nov. 25.—(P)—There's a kick in being glad!

Take for that the word of Mr. Glad, himself, who in the heart of Manhattan, on the corner of 43rd street and Broadway, will inaugurate today his second winter of giving sandwiches and coffee to the hungry.

Mr. Glad is the head of a large and thriving sales corporation—that much was learned under seal of secrecy. His name isn't Glad.

"I took that name," he said, "because I am glad to have regained my health and glad to have regained the material possessions I once lost."

The name fits well, too, the ruddy, healthy smile that radiates from beneath his snowwhite bushy hair. He is 57 years old, mild of manner—and brotherly.

He started being "Mr. Glad" last winter when he stood on a corner not far from his office and handed out nickles so that unemployed men might have car fare to look for work. For a long time, neither his friends nor his employees, not even his wife knew about it.

When he began handing out sandwiches, coffee and gloves in addition to nickles, he had to have help. A few close friends were let in on the secret. "Some of them will help him this afternoon to hand out a thousand sandwiches and as many cups of coffee—that will be the initial supply, but more will be rushed to the scene if necessary.

Mr. Glad had intended to give away a thousand gloves, also but he decided to reserve them for later distribution because of the prevailing mild weather.

Last winter he advertised a Broadway address, where his identity was carefully guarded, and asked people to send their old gloves many sent white kid, now he buys them himself and is sure they are warm.

With each nickel or each sandwich, Mr. Glad hands out a little slip of paper telling enough of his own story to encourage those who are down. The slip also tells them to "cheer up, brother. Every cloud has a silver lining. Keep up your nerve and everything will come out all right."

The men who get them, keep them. Mr. Glad has yet to see one thrown upon the sidewalk.

People talk about Mr. Glad, even to him, and don't know he is the person.

ARM IS AMPUTATED WITH POCKET KNIFE

Carrollton, Ky., Nov. 25.—(P)—Everett Snodgrass, 30, Warsaw, Ky., truck driver, died last night despite an emergency operation performed on a roadside by Robert Kipping, undertaker.

Kipping said he found Snodgrass hanging over a bridge railing with his arm pinned in the truck wreckage, and unable to free him, used a pocketknife to amputate Snodgrass' arm.

Kipping stopped the flow of blood and obtained additional treatment for Snodgrass, but the truck driver died before he reached home.

OLD FASHIONED, EH!

BIG HE MEN OF NORTHWESTERN PREFER GIRLS WHO ARE NOT FLAPPER TYPE

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 25.—(P)—The "old fashioned girl" apparently hasn't gone out of style after all.

The daily Northwestern student publication of Northwestern University conducted a survey of the ideas of men students on the question of the ideal girl.

Eighty per cent of the men, sponsors of the canvass said, specified that they were not enthusiastic about girls who smoke, drink intoxicating liquors, or overdo the use of rouge and lipstick.

The men for the most part expressed no preference as to whether the girl be blonde, brunette or red-haired, but they did say she should have "charm, intellect and sophistication."

FOES OF PROHIBITION ORGANIZE CAMPAIGN FOR OHIO

Columbus, O., Nov. 25.—(P)—Incorporated under the laws of Ohio, the association opposed to the state prohibition amendment will seek to place the liquor question before the voters at the May primary election in 1932.

This was announced after the incorporation papers were filed with the Secretary of State late yesterday. The organization will sponsor a campaign to repeal the state prohibition amendment by popular vote.

State Senator Joseph N. Ackerman of Cleveland, who with former state Senator L. G. Collister of Cleveland, filed the incorporation papers said petitions were in circulation and that 100,000 of the necessary 257,000 signatures had been obtained.

Other incorporators included Maurice Maschke, Cleveland, republican National committeeman of Ohio; federal Judge William L. Day, Harry McLaughlin, president of the Ohio Federation of Labor; Martin A. McCormick, former assistant district attorney, and John A. Hughes, of the crusaders' of northern Ohio.

The association issued a statement describing as "significant" the appearance of Maschke's name as a trustee of the organization, previously, the statement said, his attitude on the liquor question had been a matter of conjecture.

Repeal of the state prohibition amendment would not make Ohio wet. As federal prohibition still would stand, the statement said.

"But members of the association believed repeal of the Ohio statutes will be a powerful influence in bringing about nationwide action on this vital issue."

The statement added that opposition to prohibition was not based on personal convictions as the moral right or wrong of the drink habit, but on the belief that the people "deserve an opportunity to reconsider this important piece of legislation."

BRIDGE PLANS ARE APPROVED

Structure to Be Erected at Jeffersonville

Plans and specifications for the new concrete bridge over Sugar creek, at the northern edge of Jeffersonville on route 70, recently completed in Resident Engineer, Frank W. Turner's office, have been approved by the State Highway Commissioner, and returned to the office here, where they are available to contractors wishing to inspect them with a view to bidding on the structure. No date has yet been fixed for opening the bids. The structure will be of three spans, approximately 110 feet overall, with roadway 29 feet wide and a three foot sidewalk on each side. The approximate cost of the structure is $21,000. It is one of two bridges to be erected this winter under the relief program of the department, so that nearly all labor employed will be local. At the present time Sugar creek at Jeffersonville is spanned by a steel bridge that is of insufficient width and does not possess the strength necessary to insure safety on extremely heavy loads.

SUCCESS CROWNS
BEAUTIFUL SHOWSUNNYSIDE SCHOOL PRESENTS
OPERETTA TO THE DE-
LIGHT OF AUDIENCE

A halo of youth and beauty seemed to hover over the high school auditorium on Tuesday evening and beamed upon a delighted audience that glowed with pride and appreciation of the Sunnyside school children who presented an "orchestration of rhythms,"—an indescribable lyrical ensemble,—woven out of the dramatic episodic material of childhood's favorite story, "Goldilocks' Adventure," by Maude Orita Wallace.

The operetta was presented by 67 children, chosen from the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 7th grades of the Sunnyside school, assisted by the Boys' Chorus. It was put on under the very capable direction of Mrs. Mary Katherine Hixon, and Miss Geraldine Craig, pianist, assisted by Principal A. A. White, Mrs. Ethel McElwain, Miss Ethel Arnold, Miss Marie Hughes and Mrs. Hazel Davis, with Miss Agnes Kerrigan, reporter.

The exquisite stage setting, with each scene a radiant glimpse of fairyland, was a background of harmony, and pleasure-giving qualities,—a rhythmic analogue, Miss Mazie Kessler's orchestra furnished joyous, throbbing music, both before the performance and between the acts, and maintained throughout the evening, the atmosphere of artistic perspective of which rhythm was the basic feature.

The opening curtain disclosed a beautiful garden scene, with Goldilocks—Rebecca Coffey,—the center of attention at her birthday party, and her mother,—Patricia Osborn,—the youthful but dignified hostess to the Playmates,—in antique costumes. Birds, in the vine clad trellis, added their songs to the chorus of childish voices and the spotlight threw its radiance upon the gay dances. Both Goldilocks and her mother proved themselves to be dramatic soloists.

Harry Townsley as Pan, the happy Wood God, in the woodland scene, evoked the Wood Nymphs with his melodious singing, and put "dream drops" on the eyes of the sleeping Goldilocks who saw, in a vision, the dance of the Blue Bells, the Daisies, the Violets, the Wood Nymphs and the Bearers of Light, whose response to music embodied rhythms in complex pattern and a network of counter rhythms showing control, balance, poise, beauty, and grace of movement. The marvelous beauty of this scene beggars description.

The scene in the home of the Three Bears was realistic. George Flowers, as Father Bear, and Catherine Beatty, as Mother Bear, were perfect. Little Janice Thompson was the adorable Baby Bear distinguished for her clever singing and dancing.

Never before were seen such wonderful cabbies and interest was intense when Goldilocks was captured and was finally rescued by her father,—Richard Ferneau,—and others.

The Boys' Chorus of 40 voices is an organization of which Sunnyside may well be proud. Two delightful violin duets were played by Betty Jane Flint and Harry Townsley, pupils of Miss Kessler. The singing of Rebecca Coffey and Janice Thompson were outstanding features.

The operetta played to a capacity house both in the afternoon and evening despite the steady down-pour and while the report of the amount of money taken in is not available, it is known that a handsome sum was realized for Sunnyside school.

The gorgeous costumes and unusual scenery were the product of the talent of Mrs. Ursel Hays and a committee of mothers of the Sunnyside children. Sunnyside school is fortunate in numbering among its faculty members an artistic director of children's plays who is almost professional,—Mrs. Mary Katherine Hixon,—and a musician who is a perfect accompanist,—Miss Geraldine Craig. Sunnyside school is also fortunate in numbering among its patrons one who is almost professional as a designer of children's theatrical costumes and is an expert in designing and arranging theatrical scenery,—Mrs. Ursel Hays.

Principal A. A. White and the teachers of the Sunnyside school are deeply grateful to the parents of the children who gave such wonderful assistance and without whose cooperation the affair would not have been so successful.

The effective shrubbery used in the stage decoration was supplied by the Washington Branch Office of the Schmidt and Botley Company, Springfield, Ohio; the make-up of the different characters was furnished by the Eady Beauty Shoppe and the furniture was loaned by the Will Dale Furniture Store.

At the close of the performance Mrs. Hixon was presented with an armful of gorgeous chrysanthemums in appreciation of her work as director of the operetta.

This time finger prints were obtained which may lead to the apprehension of the burglars.

Winter Comes

After days and days of ideal early autumn weather, days of sunshine so warm and life giving that much of the vegetation was lured into believing that spring, instead of winter, was at hand, and folks went about coatless and hatless, the wintry storms swept down from the north and assumed dominion.

Well, we are ahead of winter by just the number of beautiful days we have had in November any way, and, now, since real wintry weather has come we believe we'll all feel better and feel more inclined to allow the holiday impulses to have full sway. Seasonable weather, after all, is better.

While the balmy days saved fuel costs and were a blessing to the poor, yet a longer regime of such weather might have brought us sickness that would have cost more than fuel and heavier clothing.

We have reason to be thankful that winter's coming is a bit behind schedule and, we believe, reason to be thankful that it has come.

Safety in Checks

Every few days the newspapers publish accounts of thefts which have been committed in cases of persons who withdraw sums of money from the banks, or use money they have kept in their homes for payments on property or other transactions.

A bank check eliminates all possibility of loss of money in making payments. Bankers are particular to know that persons presenting checks for payment are entitled to the money, and even if a check is stolen it is highly improbable that it can be negotiated by the thief. Banks require identification before making payment on checks, and the writer of the check can immediately stop payment on it if it is stolen.

Persons who keep money in considerable amounts in the home do so at their own risk. Would-be thieves have means of securing information which may not be suspected by the person who hides money.

There is no reason why any individual should draw currency from the bank when a check will complete a financial transaction; neither is there any excuse for a person who receives money undertaking to be his own banker.

Why Advertised Goods Sell

There are many reasons why advertised goods sell best. In speaking of nationally advertised goods, for example, travellers are able to purchase the same brand of cracker in the East as in the West, in the North as in the South—and all of them are equally good and crisp.

And the same principles apply to all merchandise and goods made or sold locally. The buyer knows that a local advertiser is ready to stand behind his product because his advertising is proof of his confidence.

The advertiser is known and has pledged himself to stand back of his merchandise. He has given his printed word to the general public and must keep it. It is the mark of good faith and is recognized by buyers the world over as such.

Almost without exception, all of the improvements in packages, or other containers have been the direct outcome of advertising.

Christmas Entertainments

Christmas entertainments, how the children enjoy them! What is it that makes their little entertainments so splendid? Their stage fright helps a little. The sea of heads in the audience confuses them and gives them stage fright, but whether they make perfect orations, or fail in the attempt, their faces creep into the hearts of the people and make them glad.

All the people love children always, and are especially tender towards them at Christmas time. This affection is born in all men. If it were not so the human race could not survive. So if they distinguish themselves in their recitations we love them, if they break down, we love them in their discomfiture. This is how the matter stands, and no mother need be ashamed of her boy because he fails in his "piece".

JAPAN TURNS PROPAGANDA ON THE OCCIDENT

Efficient News Machinery Lacking in China So Japs Are Gaining in Public Favor

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington, Nov. 25.—It will not be Japanese propaganda's fault if occidental public opinion fails to adjust itself ultimately to conformity with Tokio's recent policy in Manchuria—and whatever that policy may lead into.

The Japanese are not indifferent to what the rest of the world thinks of them.

Emphatically to the contrary, they greatly desire to be liked.

A number of years ago, as far Eastern correspondent for one of America's big news agencies, I made my headquarters in Tokio with a similar association known as the Nippon Dempo Tsushin Sha (or Japan Telegraph News company) between which and my own outfit an arrangement existed for an exchange of dispatches.

In the course of this relationship I was not long in discovering that the islanders have a very acute appreciation of the value of favorable publicity.

If, then, they have pushed ahead with their Manchurian program apparently in decided disregard of League of Nations formalities and such restricting compacts as the Kellogg treaty, their course may safely be interpreted as implying simply that they were in a prodigious hurry to accomplish what they had made up their minds to accomplish whether or no, and not at all suggesting that they do not intend to be as politely explanatory as possible after they have accomplished it—when it will be too late to interfere with them.

Indeed, they doubtless realize that, should their plans involve them in a clash with Russia, they will want world sympathy on their side while it progresses, and indications are that they already are shaping their publicity accordingly.

As to Russia, it is evident that they will be able to make out a pretty good case, too—They will be defending civilization against the Bolshevik menace.

Quite an appealing slogan! Meanwhile, in their Manchurian haste, it must be admitted that the Japanese have permitted their military arm to proceed at a swifter pace than their propaganda.

Nevertheless, their propaganda has not lagged far behind. Not once has it been at a loss for some self-defensive explanation to account for every offensive move the mikado's forces have made since trouble began in northern Chinese territory.

For each advance by General Honjo and his men there has been a conveniently murdered Japanese to show—or a ripped-up section of Japanese railroad or a bandit horde to exterminate or something else equally indispensable to be attended to.

It would have been better, it is true, if the murders and the railroad raids and the bandit outrages could have been announced first, with General Honjo at el coming.

Poetry For Today

GIVE THANKS
Today we meditate, dear Lord,
Upon thy bounteous grace;
Well knowing that it hath no bounds
Of distance, time or place;
Our years are held in numbered score,
Subservient to thy will;
But as life's changes come and go,
Thy love is with us still.

Thy mercies are outspread, dear Lord,
For every eye to see;
In Golden largesse of the fields
And bush and vine and tree;
We turn to thee in thoughtless trust
In every needful hour;
No matter what our need of worth,
We share thy loving power.

We cannot in ourselves, dear Lord,
Thy rugged Cross upbear;
But strength sufficient to our needs
Comes with the voice of prayer;
May we in this glad festal time
Be witness of thy love,
And draw in closer union to
Thy holier realm above.

FRANK GRUBBS.

along afterward, to punish them; instead of which, General Honjo has kept consistently in the lead, with the propagandists subsequently informing the world why he was compelled to do so-and-so.

To be sure, critics who are familiar with conditions in the Far East have mentioned that not all these stories sound thoroughly convincing.

It is hard they say, to believe that the Chinese have so regularly assumed the aggressive in situations which manifestly were bound to result disastrously to themselves if they did so.

There may be a certain amount of coyness in these arguments, but try to prove anything—with the Japanese in exclusive control of all means of communication leading outwardly from the disturbed area, and conceivably but firmly declining any investigators but their own to enter it.

It is in periods of stress like the present that such organizations as the Nippon Dempo Tsushin Sha are infinitely helpful to a foreign journalist in Japan.

They will readily give him all the news he asks for.

They have it—the Nippon Dempo Tsushin Sha folk do—straight from their own war office, and are glad to have it disseminated everywhere that wires and wireless will carry it.

It would be very tactless, of course, to ask them if, by any chance, there may be the least bit of bias in it.

If, on the other hand, the occidental correspondent crosses over to China, to check up on his Japanese information, he finds no efficient news machine to assist him.

He finds a country where news circulates so imperfectly that a good-sized war (as big as the Russo-Japanese war) can rage in one corner of it and the rest of the population never discover that there is a war; a country with no more idea of modern publicity than it has of the current bank rate on the planet Pluto.

Naturally China stands small chance of getting its side of the Manchurian question adequately presented in the world press, in competition with up-to-date Nippon.

Russia, should she be drawn into the struggle, is more sophisticated.

Japan, however, should have no difficulty in winning all right-minded peoples' sympathies against the U. S. S. R. on account of the Bolshevik menace.

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.
Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.
Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.
Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

In Ohio History High Spots

As early as 1783 Washington had in mind a state in the west, bounded very nearly as Ohio now is. There is a letter which he wrote September 7, that year, to James Duane in which he outlined it. The letter was written from Rocky Hill. That was two months before the British evacuated New York and three months before he surrendered his commission as commander of the Continental army.

In this letter he wrote: "From the best information and maps of the western country it would appear that the territory from the mouth of the Great Miami river which empties into the Ohio to its confluence with Made River; thence by a line to the Miami (Maumee) river which empties into Lake Erie, and thence to the northward, Pennsylvania to the eastward and the Ohio to the southward, form a government sufficiently extensive to fulfill all the public engagements and to receive, moreover, a large population by emigrants; and to confine the settlement of the new state within these bounds would, in my opinion, be infinitely better, even supposing no disputes were to happen with the Indians, and that it was not necessary to guard against these other evils that have been enumerated, than to suffer the same number of people to roam over a country of at least 500,000 square miles, contributing nothing to the support, but much perhaps to the embarrassment of the federal government."

"Were it not for the purpose of comprehending the settlement of Detroit within the jurisdiction of the new government, a more compact and better district for a state would be for the line to proceed from the Miami fort and village along the river of that name to Lake Erie, leaving in that case the settlement of Detroit and all the territory north of the rivers Miami and St. Josephs, between the Lakes Erie, St. Clair, Huron and Michigan to form hereafter, another state equally large, compact and water bounded." He did not live to see the new state he had in mind actually created but his outline of the territory for Ohio and Michigan was almost prophetic.

STOP NIGHT COUGHING

Night coughing is almost always caused by an irritated, inflamed throat; so is almost all coughing. Ordinary cough syrups do not reach these conditions, but Thoxine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles, does. It relieves the irritation and the cough stops within 15 minutes. And Thoxine goes further too. It eliminates the internal cause, which many times develops into serious illness.
A swallow of Thoxine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and children like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes or money back 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Blackmer & Tanquary and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By WILLIAM GAINES

NEW YORK—Idle chatter: The "aw, say" and "Toid avenu" accent characteristic of a certain New York element is about the most unpleasant language that can fall upon one's ears.

Compared to it, the lingo of mountaineers and the sharpest twang of a midwesterner is sheer music.

The man in this city who would accept an automobile as a gift, provided he could afford a chauffeur and hag to drive it himself and worry about parking and garages seems to be a fit subject for an alienist.

A very valiant army could be mustered to defend the opinion that the old Woolworth building still has the best lines of any of the taller structures.

New York waiters, as a class, are readily rendered submissive if their intended victims to not meekly accept their indifference and insolence. The training of waiters, as servants, does not equip them to be such antagonists as police-men are, or even taxi drivers.

The most uncomfortable means of transportation in this city is the cross-town bus. One of the most surprising things about New York is the lack of adequate east-west transit lines of any sort. All of which permits the cab companies rich plucking.

A family man told me the other night: "I can't understand why any one whose chief interest in life is rearing children would stay in New York if it were humanly possible for him to maintain a relatively high standard of living in any one of a hundred smaller towns and cities I know of."

MRS. Jesse Persinger charmingly entertained the four table Thursday luncheon club, for which there was a full quota of members.

For the serving of a most delicious luncheon the hostess seated her guests at perfectly appointed small tables, centered with gold and bronze pom-pom and button chrysanthemums in lovely arrangement. Suggestions of the incoming Thanksgiving season were prettily used.

The afternoon was delightfully passed in the progressive contract bridge game. Mrs. J. Madison Willis won the high score trophy.

The Browning Club held its regular session Tuesday evening in the Federated club rooms, with the president, Mrs. Estella K. Blackmer, presiding. In the business session, the Book Committee, Mrs. Minnie Browne, chairman, reported the purchase of four books for the children's shelves of the city library, ranging from poetry to prose, in its best form. The Christmas Seal sale was discussed, and plans are forming for the Browning sale in the second ward.

Miss Cordelia McCafferty, chairman of the Literature Department, presented the following program: "When the fight begins within himself, a man's worth something."

Erskine's Literary Discipline—Mrs. Olive Dewey.

How our Presidents ranked as Book-Lovers—Mrs. Hazel Bacon.

These subjects had been given careful and thorough study and were well given.

Miss Mildred Todhunter added two choice piano numbers from MacDowell, and a characteristic negro dance number, as a brilliant encore.

In the absence of Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, who planned to read "Calderon," four members of the Browning Club, Mrs. Maggie Hopkins, Miss Cordia McCafferty, Mrs. Jeannette Haver, Mrs. Edith Marchant, gave brief glimpses of interesting spots in Europe; Miss Mildred Todhunter described the life, language and characteristics of the people in three provinces of France—Brittany, Alsace-Lorraine and Midi.

Miss Mary Katherine Snider entertained her bridge club and an additional table of guests, Tuesday evening, for an especially delightful session. Her home was prettily decorated with lovely chrysanthemums and other flowers and she provided the most enjoyable pleasures throughout the evening.

Outstanding in the Thanksgiving season each year is the Buck Florists' display of chrysanthemums, which rivals many of the chrysanthemum shows in the large cities. Mr. Einar Jensen, a florist of these gardens, has already shipped prize winners to the chrysanthemum shows, of Huntington, W. Va., Dayton and Cincinnati and is shipping to Cleveland the first of the week.

The uptown display, in the old Midland bank building, drew hundreds of delighted spectators Wednesday and will be on display in the evening.

Adjectives fail to do justice to the perfection and beauty of the "mums" grown in the Buck gardens. Among the new varieties that demand attention and are especially gorgeous, are the "Whittier," a rare ball shaped bloom, the magnificent bronze "Pearson," the orchid "Perfection," the "Super-Supreme" and the buff "Turner." Also extremely pretty new varieties in the smaller "mums" are the gold button chrysanthemums and the Norma pom pom, a shaded orchid with yellow center.

Specials for Thanksgiving are the loveliest of table baskets, in which roses, sweet peas and chrysanthemums are in exquisite blend.

CHAPTER 23

BRUCE DURAND's visit at the Morse home was brief. In a polite, gentlemanly manner he apologized for having been absent from Sybil's party and in an equally polite and gentlemanly manner he stated that he would be looking forward to seeing her at his home on Friday. He had the feeling as he was saying it that he was a small boy who had been sent by his mother to get a loaf of bread and a pound of butter. He found himself repeating his aunt's message literally, word for word.

Sybil Morse bowed and reddened in her customary manner and asked him to please come in and sit down. Bruce said that he was terribly sorry but that he had an engagement for the evening, that he was taking his aunt to a concert. He was glad to get away. It always embarrassed him when he had to talk to Sybil Morse. He saw her blushing and then he had the feeling that he likewise was blushing.

Sybil looked at her mother helplessly after Bruce had gone. "He didn't even sit down," Mrs. Morse said regretfully. "I asked him to come in but he wouldn't," Sybil said mournfully. There was a silence and then Mrs. Morse sighed audibly. "Well, you have Friday night anyway in which to make an impression. That's something. I don't know what more anyone can do."

"I'll have to have a new dress," Sybil suggested. Her mother nodded. "Of course. We'll attend to that the first thing in the morning." What Mrs. Morse did not realize was that if she did not attend to Sybil so much herself the girl might have a chance to overcome her bashful traits. She was forever living by rules and regulations that Mrs. Morse laid down for her, doing things that her mother told her to do. Hadn't Mrs. Morse, girl and woman, been through it all?

It was true. She had. But it was also true that she had lived in an age of horses and carriages. Some mothers could not understand that, especially when their daughters did not have the courage to inform them of it.

It was obvious, Bruce thought when he got into his car and headed into the traffic, that these women were making a play for him. Poor little Sybil Morse! Bruce really pitied her. He didn't see how she'd ever get a man unless it was someone who didn't mind her everlasting blushes. He couldn't imagine what it was going to be like at his party Friday night. His aunt evidently had trumped things up so that he would have to take Sybil. He hoped not but he was afraid of it, from things his aunt had said.

He glanced at his watch. It was eight-thirty. He wished he could go to see Lois. He wanted to tell her everything and get it over with. He wasn't afraid. She'd understand, he knew. Hadn't they promised each other this time they would believe and trust in each other, no matter what happened to them? Well, if Lois didn't approve of his going to the party Friday night, he wouldn't go. That was all there was to that. He wasn't going to take a back seat for anybody ever again. She would be first in his thoughts and first in his actions.

He wished Lois were feeling better. That, also, worried him. What if something were to happen to her? He smiled a little to himself. There he was, getting panicky just like some old woman. He knew Lois wasn't seriously ill. What made him so silly?

On the corner of Sheridan and Fillmore he picked up Guy Rush, an old friend of his. Guy was walking toward the lake, his overcoat pulled up around his chin, his hands in his pockets, puffing jerkily on an old pipe.

"Get in," Bruce said warmly. "No use in walking when you can ride, is there?"

Guy said no he guessed there wasn't and got in. The two rode on for a few blocks in silence, neither asking the other where he was going.

"See you're having a blowout Friday night," Guy said between puffs on his pipe. Bruce nodded stubbornly. "Who's that in honor of, your new girl?" Guy quizzed.

There it was. Well, Bruce supposed he would have to face facts. That was another reason he didn't want to hang around his old gang, too. He didn't like the idea of having to let all of them know that Lois would not be accepted by his family.

"No," he said curtly. "My girl isn't in—I imagine that's what you'd call it—with my family."

Guy puffed on in silence. "I wouldn't worry too much about that," he said after a while. Bruce looked straight ahead.

"Why?" he asked casually, as if it didn't mean anything to him whether his girl was welcome in the family or not. As a matter of fact, it did mean a great deal to him.

"Oh, they'll come around all right after you're married."

"What makes you think so?" Guy said. "I know. Take Bob Traylor. Don't you remember how his old man swore that he'd disinherit him and wouldn't let him set foot inside the house and all that sort of mush? The old man was the first one to get to the hospital when they had the kid. Gave it five hundred dollars right off the reel to start his bank account."

Bruce reflected. He did recall that instance now that Guy had mentioned it. But Bruce didn't want to have to win his aunt and uncle over in that manner. He desired them to welcome Lois from the start. She would be disappointed if they didn't. She felt deeply concerning this. She had the idea already that they didn't like her, even though she evidently didn't know about their returning from Europe.

The two young men drove along in the crisp, wintry air. It was invigorating to whiz along the boulevards, watching the people scurry through the streets to keep warm.

There was only one thing missing. Lois should be there beside him instead of Guy, Bruce thought. She would be soon, too. He didn't care what occurred. He'd marry Lois in spite of anybody. He desired to do it just as soon as she could see her way clear. He had plenty of money to start on. They wouldn't need much. Not when one had love. The money would all come later, as they needed it. Lois would be satisfied with a small apartment.

Bruce drew up in front of Guy's home. He was smiling without knowing that he was doing it. Guy looked at him with an amused grin on his face.

"Sold on her, eh, Bruce?" he teased good-humoredly.

Bruce's smile widened. Then he broke into a laugh. "I'll say I am, Guy!"

"More power to you!" Guy exclaimed as he waved his hand in farewell.

Bruce drove away laughing contentedly.

LIVING AND LOVING

BY VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR MISS LEE: I'm one of the No. 2's. I fell madly in love with a girl who was going with another fellow. I had a few dates with her but I never asked her to drop this other fellow. One night she told me, without me asking her, that she loved no one but me, and she said she was going to give the other fellow his ring back."

"Things went along all right for awhile but she had never given No. 1 his ring, so I asked her why. She said she didn't quite know how to break the news to him. I told her to take her time. It was all right with me."

"One night a couple of weeks later she gave me back my ring, and said she was sorry but she guessed she really loved No. 1 more after all."

"I still love her and it was sure hard to take, but I would rather have her marry No. 1 and be happy, if she really loves him, than have her marry me and be unhappy. We are the best of friends yet, but I don't bore her with my love any more, although I'm still crazy about her."

"I can't forget her. She is in my mind always. I dream of her. I think of her, and I live for the next time I'll see her, I'll go mad if I don't have a little advice soon. Tell me, do you think I'm doing the right thing? Or should I keep on trying to win her love?"

I think the best thing to do would be to have one more session with the girl, son, and ask her to tell you definitely if there is any hope for you. If she is sure she loves No. 1, the best thing to do is to drop out of the picture—best for you and her, especially for you.

You are only torturing yourself by seeing her and if she has made up her mind that she really loves No. 1, you must make up your mind to forget her. Yes, I know this seems impossible. But it can be done. If you could go away from town for awhile it would help.

It was a great pity that the girl let you go with her when she was practically engaged to No. 1. You would never have become so attached to her if you had not known her in that intimate way and been encouraged to think she loved you. It was not fair to you or to the other chap. However, that is in the past.

Ask other girls out, no matter how indifferent you are to them. Make up your mind that you will put her out of your life and you

Dear Diary

By ETHELDA BEDFORD

THURSDAY NIGHT.
DEAR DIARY: I tried awfully hard to feel calm and a little casual about going to dinner at Nate's apartment—like that. But, when you come right down to thinking about it, there's no reason why it should be such a crime.

No worse than riding on a country road with him—or being in one of those little nooks like they have at Tony's, where you are practically shut away from everyone else. Besides, there are so many people in New York and they are all so close together, it seems, why, anywhere you are can't be far from somebody else.

Even in a man's apartment—No—I can't seem to reason it all out yet.

When I stepped into the elevator of his apartment house and told the attendant to take me to the roof why he said:

"Pardon, madame, but do you live in the building?"

"Why—er—no..."

"Please may I have your name, then?" I'll have to announce you. It's a rule of the house."

"What do you mean?"

"Your name, please... so I may announce your arrival!"... and did I feel silly—and hickish! Yet, it's just one of those New York customs... like paying a dime for a bus ride... and tipping soda jerkers, and saying "cawn't" for "can't." I'll catch on. Just give me time.

But, Diary, all the strangeness left me when I lifted the brass and enamel knocker on Nate's door—which, by the way, is painted a bright red!

I said: "I'm awfully glad you didn't have that footman open the door for me..." when Nate received me.

He said: "I was much too impatient... to wait for you a second longer than I must."

He slipped my coat off and when I began peeling off my long gloves he said: "Here, I'd like to do that for you—may I?"

He didn't wait for me to answer—he just took my hand and began removing the glove... and there was a ripping sound... and he discovered, much to my embarrassment, that he had virtually torn one glove in two... it had been to the cleaners so many times it was worn out, anyway.

"I'm going to replace it," he said, apologetically, "with a box of new ones."

I wondered whether Sue had had some idea like that when she insisted I wear those old gloves...

When a financial bubble bursts, a lot of suckers get sprayed.

POLICE GRAFT PLAN REVEALED IN TRIAL

Cleveland, O., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Allegations that under a former police regime, bootleggers at Canton, Ohio, were given "protection" from raids, were lifted again today when Elia Darany, Mike Smith, and "Big John" Gust went on trial for a second time, on charges of liquor conspiracy.

Darany formerly was a Canton police official, Smith was reputed bootlegger, and Gust allegedly a liquor distributor.

Today's hearing of witnesses was begun before Judge Samuel H. West in Federal court, here, after the judge overruled a dismissal motion based on the claim that the jury in the previous trial was charged irregularly.

Among the first witnesses were Kolaris and Peter Mangis, reputed bootleggers in Canton's "jungle." They testified they had paid money for "protection."

mit the Democratic members of Congress to vote in favor of some resolution which will give the people themselves opportunity to vote on the question as to whether they wish the eighteenth amendment retained, repealed or modified.

He challenged also the assertion that Governor Roosevelt opposed his selection as chairman in 1928. Alfred E. Smith, he said, had assured him of the contrary. Yet his statement accentuated the apparent difference between Roosevelt and Smith.

Raskob has been working since last spring to obtain a platform declaration on prohibition from the next Democratic National Convention. In March he thrust before the National Committee a plan for "home rule" or federally-aided state liquor control. Friends of Roosevelt's nomination for President were among the most active in blocking a vote of the plan. A few days ago Raskob sent a prohibition questionnaire to the 88,000 odd cash contributors to the 1928 campaign, accompanying it with a letter urging his wet views.

WEATHER BACK TO NORMALCY AGAIN

The winter storm, struck the Great Lakes region yesterday.

Vagaries of the weather are illustrated by comparison of temperatures in Alaska and Arizona yesterday. It was zero at Flagstaff, Ariz. The Juneau minimum was 20 degrees above.

Southern California citrus growers continued stocking smudge pots to build smoke screens against the prying forces of Jack Frost. Losses generally were reported small.

A freeze yesterday terminated the longest growing season in the history of the Ozarks as house-holders were revelling in their second crop of raspberries.

Snowshoes, a toboggan and tobacco were dropped from an airplane yesterday to three Sacramento men, Art Evans, Frank Carey, and Gene Smith, snowbound for ten days in a mountain cabin at Echo Lake, Calif.

Among the deaths attributed to the weather was that of Norman W. Potter, 36-year-old air mail pilot whose body was found in his wrecked plane west of Salt Lake City yesterday. He crashed in a blizzard. Charles Melty, 80, froze to death near Watsonville, Calif.

Spokesmen for certain smaller countries which were not identified, were said to have accused the big powers of letting the League covenant go to pieces by their unwillingness to exercise the coercive measures it provides.

Moscow, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Charges of a Japanese "White" Russian plot to seize the Soviet-owned Chinese eastern railway in Manchuria and set up a buffer state in the far east between Russia and Japan were refuted by Moscow newspapers today, crediting reports from Peking.

The report said that "according to trustworthy information from Osaka, Japan," an official Japanese military mission has gone from Harbin to Mukden, Manchuria, to make a report to the Japanese command there on an alleged agreement with "white" Russians to seize the railroad, which is owned by Russia, but operated jointly by Russia and China.

Shanghai, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Demanding a declaration of war against Japan, more than 8,000 Chinese students rioted here today held up all railway traffic and wrecked the station master's office until they were given five trains in which to go to the capital at Nanking.

At intervening stations they were joined by 5,000 more students. They also demanded China's withdrawal from the League of Nations and the execution of Chang Hsueh-Liang, charging him with failure to resist the Japanese invasion of Manchuria.

Tokyo, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The Japanese government today instructed Kenkichi Yoshizawa, its representative at Paris, to accept the league council's Manchurian peace resolution with the single reservation that the second clause be understood not to preclude "such military measures as may be required for the protection of Japanese lives and property from bandits and other lawless elements."

The situation at Chinchow, which was reported here to be becoming gradually more threatening prompted the reservation, which was made at the eleventh hour.

HICCUGHS STOPPED BY TUBE IN STOMACH

Aurora, Ill.—(AP)—The hiccupping which annoyed John Weber, 60, for nine days, have stopped, temporarily, at least.

The hiccupping ceased Tuesday after an anesthetic had been administered and a rubber tube was put into the victim's stomach.

Dr. A. N. Kittenplon, the attending physician, said he could not say whether the tube or the anesthetic, or the combination of the two, had produced the desired results. He added, however, that he would leave the tube in Weber's stomach for the time being.

choice between that and the debt.

"Retain the agricultural marketing act but amend it so that the proper handling of the surplus problem is possible and promote co-operative marketing along sound lines," Taber said.

The debt plan, as presented in the past, would increase the price of farm crops by giving the exporter of a surplus farm commodity a debenture certificate equal in value to one-half the tariff on the product.

The certificates would be accepted for payment of import duties and the Grange—a long a sponsor of the proposal—contends farmers would receive virtually all their value.

Some commodities not protected by a tariff would benefit by the debentures.

The report said that "according to trustworthy information from Osaka, Japan," an official Japanese military mission has gone from Harbin to Mukden, Manchuria, to make a report to the Japanese command there on an alleged agreement with "white" Russians to seize the railroad, which is owned by Russia, but operated jointly by Russia and China.

Shanghai, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Demanding a declaration of war against Japan, more than 8,000 Chinese students rioted here today held up all railway traffic and wrecked the station master's office until they were given five trains in which to go to the capital at Nanking.

At intervening stations they were joined by 5,000 more students. They also demanded China's withdrawal from the League of Nations and the execution of Chang Hsueh-Liang, charging him with failure to resist the Japanese invasion of Manchuria.

Tokyo, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The Japanese government today instructed Kenkichi Yoshizawa, its representative at Paris, to accept the league council's Manchurian peace resolution with the single reservation that the second clause be understood not to preclude "such military measures as may be required for the protection of Japanese lives and property from bandits and other lawless elements."

The situation at Chinchow, which was reported here to be becoming gradually more threatening prompted the reservation, which was made at the eleventh hour.

HICCUGHS STOPPED BY TUBE IN STOMACH

Aurora, Ill.—(AP)—The hiccupping which annoyed John Weber, 60, for nine days, have stopped, temporarily, at least.

The hiccupping ceased Tuesday after an anesthetic had been administered and a rubber tube was put into the victim's stomach.

Dr. A. N. Kittenplon, the attending physician, said he could not say whether the tube or the anesthetic, or the combination of the two, had produced the desired results. He added, however, that he would leave the tube in Weber's stomach for the time being.

DAUGHERTY CASE

ple generally in Fayette county.

It was then a motion was filed by the state, represented by Prosecutor Norman L. McLean and Assistant, Louis J. Schneider, of Cincinnati, in the Supreme Court asking that the Court of Appeals judgment of reversal be reviewed. It is that motion that was overruled Wednesday and means that the Court of Appeals judgment will stand finally.

While, of course, no one knew, in advance of the formal rendition of the decision what it would be, almost everyone realized that it is difficult to convince the Supreme Court that there are legal questions, of such importance, involved, in the particular case, demanding adjudication by that Court as to warrant a review. If there are no such questions involved, then, with few exceptions, the motion asking review is denied.

When the Supreme Court on Tuesday refused to review the decision of the Appeals court in the Dörger convictions growing out of the Cosmopolitan bank failures in Cincinnati, involving practically the same question of law as the Daugherty case presented, there was some revival of hope, on the part of many local citizens, that the Supreme court would grant the motion and review the case, especially as two Appeals courts of the state had given conflicting opinions on practically the same question of law.

Evidently from its refusal to sustain the motion of the state, the Supreme Court did not consider the two Appeals courts' decisions in conflict, of sufficient importance to warrant an attempt to reconcile them by review of one of the cases.

Many Fayette countians felt that the judgment of reversal by the Akron district Court of Appeals judges was of sufficient importance because of the large amounts, shown by the evidence to have been involved in the Daugherty case, the wide publicity of the case, its startling breakdown, and many other unusual features, stamping it as a case apart which the Supreme court would recognize as entitling it to review.

It is evident, however, that the majority of the Supreme Court judges saw in the Daugherty case, just another criminal case, presenting no reasons why that court should undertake to review it.

Maximum penalties are one year imprisonment and $500 fine.

MARKETS and FINANCIAL NEWS

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

New York, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Fresh weakness appeared in the leading financial markets today.

Selling of wheat and other grains, inability of cotton to hold yesterday's gains, weakness of the pound sterling and the heavier tone of bar silver contributed to selling in the stock market. Discouraged security holders apparently abandoned hope of early settlement of the railway wage problem and saw little of cheer in various trade reports.

Publication of additional railroad earnings reports for October, disclosing shrinkage of more than 25 per cent in revenues as compared with last year, and the carloading total which was down a shade more on the week than seasonal, caused early selling in the rails and in the afternoon this spread to the other sections of the list.

New lows were made by Atchafalaya which was off around 4 points. The primary American markets are still watching closely developments in Europe. A favorable reaction to announcement that the Reichsbank recently had lifted the bars on export of German capital in sufficient amount to absorb a $6,000,000 maturity of government guaranteed bonds in this country has been more than offset by conflicting reports.

Decrease of 3.9 per cent in electric output for the week ended Nov. 21 compared with the same week of last year was relatively better than for any week since last Oct. 3. The decline reported in the preceding week was 5.2 per cent.

Little change was evident in the money markets, with call money continuing at 2½ per cent. Somewhat better demand was reported for bills.

GRID BANQUET

AT CHILDREN'S HOME

Team Cheered by Girls Who Wind Up Season Like Other Schools

BIG TIME HAD BY ALL

Several Outside Teams Met During Season

From coast to coast in big schools and little schools football has been the great American sport for the past two months and now for those bruising battles of the gridirons, the participants are being rewarded with banquets in their honor.

A championship of some sort is not necessary. It is just a custom—one that has been growing year by year.

Fayette county's homeless orphanage love sport as do their more fortunate children. The boys out there at the County Home have had their team and the girls have been as faithful rooters as any team could want. Some games were played with other schools, Bloomingburg and Rose Ave. being among them. They have had their fun and sport and, of course, it matters not now which team won.

The season was ended. Then came the time for the girls of the home to do their bit. Mr. and Mrs. David Whiteside, the father and mother of this flock out there on the Devalon road, joined in. A football banquet was planned and the plan was carried out to a rousing conclusion.

Harry Dailey, the student manager, wrote the story of the banquet and sent it in to The Herald. It was written in long hand, neat and legible. It follows in full without so much as a change in punctuation.

The Children's Home football team was given a banquet at the Home. Being a custom of schools and colleges to banquet their football squad at the close of the season, the management of the home felt that their boys were as deserving as any football boys and should be given recognition. No football team ever appreciated a banquet more than these boys.

During the season, a number of games were played on the Home field and also with outside teams including Rose Avenue and Bloomingburg. The team was only defeated when playing against much heavier teams. The boys developed fine sportsmanship, and always had a winning spirit, even in defeat.

The boys helped plan the banquet and entertainment, and ten of the older girls assisted in serving.

Nineteen boys and the Home Staff were seated at two long tables, and the boys treated to the delicacies which they liked most.

Harry Dailey, manager of the team, acted as toastmaster. A number of boys were called upon, and responded with surprising fine talks, expressing their appreciation of the fine banquet and the privilege of being on the football team.

Letters were given to eleven boys. They are as follows: Patrick Massie and Robert Morgan, ends; George Hoster and Floyd Miller, tackles; Ramond Cox and Howard Williams, guards; Carl Haggard, center; Frank Brown and Ralph Smith, halfbacks; Harry Dailey, quarterback and manager; Wendell Whiteside, fullback; Coach and captain.

From all indications prospects for the coming year are exceedingly bright.

RECREATION HALL IS REOPENED UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT WITH FULL PROGRAM MADE

The Recreation Hall, for several weeks dark and quiet behind closed doors, is once more the scene of indoor winter sports and hilarity. The doors have been unlocked, another management has been installed and plans have been mapped out for a comprehensive program—a program injected with inducements.

The new management comes in the person of Louis K. Giordano. He knows the indoor recreation game if experience means anything. He comes here from Lancaster and has managed bowling alleys and billiard halls in cities in Ohio and West Virginia.

The program Giordano has mapped out leaves few dull hours in any day's twenty-four. A league is now being organized, but at the present time the lineup is incomplete, although the word has been spread abroad.

As for the inducements—from now until Christmas 20 per cent of all the receipts will be turned over to "some Christmas Charity Fund" and tickets will be passed out to all feminine visitors Friday that are good for a game of 10-pins any time between then and Christmas.

The billiard tables have been uncovered and brushed off, cues racked and everything made ready for the artists of the green felt tables.

For the present at least, the restaurant which had been run in conjunction with the recreation features will remain closed.

FORMER BOXING CHAMPION NOT CONGRESSMEN, MAY BE DEMOCRATIC FLOOR LEADER

Washington, Nov. 25.—(P)—A boxing champion of half-century ago may don the Democratic gloves for sparring republican jabs in the political ring this winter.

He is Henry Thomas Rainey, of Illinois, who now appears slated for the party's floor leadership of the House, if his friend John Garner wins the speakership, when the new Congress meets December 7.

From present indications, the 71-year-old veteran will find lessons learned in winning Amherst's heavy-weight championship in driving party policies through a closely divided house.

Rainey and Garner came to the House together on March 4, 1903. He is the same day the late Speaker Nicholas Longworth began his legislative career. Like Longworth Rainey suffered one break in his House service; he went down before the Republican landslide of 1920, but he came back two years later and has kept repeating winning back a ranking place in democratic councils.

At college, Rainey could do the 100 yard dash in ten and one quarter seconds.

Today, he attributes a robust constitution to habits of exercise acquired then. He said he has never had a day of sickness.

Two characteristics make the Illinois member easily spotted in the House. A shock of snow-white hair waves down over his forehead. He wears a flowing bow tie of navy blue or black.

New York Boss of Boxing Says Schmeling-Walker Bout Is for East

PROBABLY MIAMI, FLA.

Jack Dempsey Tied Up Too by Garden Moguls

By EDWARD J. NEIL

New York, Nov. 25.—(P)—The discussion centered around the possibility of Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion, defending his title in Los Angeles, in February, against Mickey Walker.

William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden and promoter of its boxing business, cleared his throat and announced as follows:

"If I have anything to say about that—and it's just possible I will—Madison Square Garden will promote no fight between Schmeling and Walker, or anyone else in California this winter."

Mr. Carey, able to sit and ruminate and think of his other business now that Jimmy Johnston is gathering the forehead wrinkles and the headaches that are the least aggravating of a promoter's lot, warmed to his subject and started tramping up and down on the thick carpet of his luxurious office.

"They say California is virgin territory, haven't had a heavy-weight championship fight in many years, and they think that's an advantage, don't they? Well, I'm going to tell you this. Virgin territory is the worst territory in the world for the promotion of a heavy-weight title fight. We learned that at Cleveland last summer when Schmeling fought Stribling."

"Heavyweight title fights can be staged only where there are fight fans, not just people who might be interested in a spectacle."

As Mr. Carey paused to think, he was asked where Schmeling and Walker would fight then if they have to fight anywhere.

"Miami," said Mr. Carey. "There is wealth there. The wealthy men who patronize Madison Square Garden all season go there for their holidays. They'll come to the fight and buy ring-side seats."

"And another thing, if Jack Dempsey fights this winter or any other time, remember this. He will fight for Madison Square Garden just as he did in the days of Tex Rickard."

COLLEGE ATHLETE MYSTIFIES PHYSICIANS BY FINISHING RACE WITH BROKEN LEG

Ames, Ia., Nov. 25.—(P)—Even a broken leg can't stop Earl Labertew, captain of the Iowa State two-mile team, who finished a race at Lincoln Saturday after he developed an intense pain at the half-mile mark.

Athletic and hospital officials alike are mystified at an X-Ray picture which shows that the large bone of the leg was fractured clear across.

Not realizing what had happened, the wiry little harrier continued, despite the pain and finished in tenth place. Fortunately, doctors said, the ends of the bone did not separate and his leg apparently is none the worse for his finishing the race.

FOOTBALL BANNED BY PREXY BUT THEY GO FOR BASKETBALL IN GREAT BIG WAY

Chicago, Nov. 25.—(P)—Cheers which once rang out for football at Loyola University, now spur on another sport: basketball.

And Rev. Robert M. Kelly, president, says it will stay that way. President Kelly instigated the movement which, a year ago, caused football to be dropped from the university's list of sports.

Now, a year later, he announced that he was so pleased with the results that he was certain football would never return.

Intercollegiate basketball, he said, has been made the big sport of the school. Loyola's team has won a national reputation.

"There are a few students, he explained, who still think Loyola made a mistake in discontinuing intercollegiate football but the preponderant feeling is that we have made a wise move."

"Student registration has not fallen off. My administrative problems have been greatly eased."

"A definite checkup on grades will not be possible until after the school year, but the board of regents recently advised that the general trend is upward as compared with those during the football era."

Basketball at Loyola is supplemented by gymnastics, swimming, boxing and golf.

Indiana Picked to Win Round Robin Tourney at Chicago Field

OHIO STATE NO CINCH

Both Bucks and Gophers Weakened by Injuries

By WILLIAMS WEEKES

Chicago, Nov. 25.—(P)—If the handicappers have the situation figured correctly, Indiana's Hoosiers are a cinch to win the Big Ten's charity round robin football tournament tomorrow at Stagg Field.

Chicago and Iowa will meet in the first two period match, and on the basis of previous accomplishment, the Maroons should win. Chicago has managed to score at least one touchdown in each of its five conference games this season, while the Hawkeyes have failed to cross an opposition goal line in league competition.

Illinois, which has been mauled six times by Big Ten opponents, does not appear to have much chance to beat Indiana, either by scoring or by yardage decision. The Hoosiers have won one conference contest, but have as the high spot of their season, the distinction of holding Northwestern to a 7 to 6 margin.

If the dope is correct thus far, Indiana and Chicago will tangle in the playoff 30-minute game, and the Hoosiers again have the edge.

Purdue suffered a setback yesterday when it was learned that neither Doxie Moore, substitute halfback, nor Paul Calvert, end, will be able to play against Northwestern Saturday. Moore's wrenched knee has not responded to treatment and Calvert must undergo an operation for appendicitis. Northwestern also has its bear story. Captain Dai Marvill, tackle, and Dick Fencil, regular right end, suffered severe burns from the preparation used to mark the playing field at Iowa last week. Both will be able to play, but will not be in the best of shape.

Coach Harry Kipke is worrying about Michigan squad's mental attitude toward its game for charity against Wisconsin. He fears that a letdown will follow the victory over Minnesota and has used reserves frequently in trying to keep the regulars at the proper pitch. The Wisconsin squad, on the other hand, has shown more fire in drills this week, than at any other time of the season.

Ohio State probably will face Minnesota without Martin Varner, guard, and Mickey Vuchlich, fullback, who were injured in the Illinois contest. The Gophers will be without Brad Robinson, its outstanding end.

"BABY GATOR" SCRAPPY

Gainesville, Fla.—(P)—One of the sensations of the "baby gator" camp at the University of Florida is George McCampbell, midget guard, who has scrapped his way to first team recognition though weighing only 150 pounds. He plays at right guard.

From what Bill Parker and the other eagle-eyed observers report from the Southwest conference the outstanding two performers of the gridiron season there are Weldon (Speedy) Mason, Southern Methodist back, and Johnnie Vaughn, 184-pound Texas Christian guard.

"Mason is the one outstanding back in the conference," writes Parker. "He is at his best on off tackle plays where a cut-back is needed and on returning punts through a broken field. This year he has played quarterback, passed and punted. This has been necessary because of an injury to Bob Gilbert, regular quarterback. Without Mason, Southern Methodist would have a hard time winning games for he is the spark that keeps the team going."

"Vaughn is the 'iron-man' of the Southwest conference forward walls. He has played superb football throughout the year."

FAT MEN

I don't care how fat you are or how much you hate to get out and walk a couple of miles. If you will take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning for 4 weeks and cut out pastries, sugar and fatty meats—

You will feel so good—so energetic and the urge for activity will be so great that you will immensely enjoy a daily walk of several miles—and lose fat.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer and your eyes sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings.

Just try one 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts; it will last you four weeks. After you have taken one bottle the old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—you'll enjoy work—you'll sleep like a top and probably live years longer. Get Kruschen at Finley's Corner Drug Store or any live druggist in America with the understanding that you must be joyfully satisfied or money back.

W. R. Daniels of Richmond Hill, N. Y., writes: "After 2 bottles of Kruschen, I've removed 3 inches from my belt, feel 25 per cent more active, mind is clearer, eruptions have disappeared. Am 46 years old and feel 20 years younger. I get up feeling 100 per cent. Kruschen sure is great!"—Adv.

Wednesday's Anniversary

On this day, in 1783, British troops under Carleton evacuated New York City.

Wednesday's Horoscope

Persons born on this day are fretful if things do not go their way and are deeply sensitive.

Answers to Foregoing Questions

1. Diamonds are not inflammable in air; however, if put into pure oxygen they will burn at about 850 degrees C.
2. "America" and "God Save the King" are sung to the same air.
3. Generally speaking, fish swim upstream to meet food coming downstream.

PSORIASIS

This is a serious skin disease usually of a stubborn nature and causes no end of trouble to folks who are unfortunate enough to contract it.

The antiseptic Emerald Oil treatment takes right hold with the first application and good results continue daily. If powerful antiseptic Emerald Oil doesn't conquer your trouble Finley's Corner Drug Store or any live druggist anywhere will return the purchase price.

A Philadelphia man spent thousands of dollars trying to get rid of Psoriasis—Nothing helped until he got Emerald Oil—soon he was well—again free from this stubborn disease.

Moore's Emerald Oil costs but 85 cents a bottle and it's so wonderfully helpful for other ailments such as Eczema, Acne, Itching Skin, Old Sores, broken Varicose Veins, Itching Toes and Athlete's Foot—It's a great home remedy.—Adv.

GRANGE WANTS RURAL POLICE ORGANIZATION

Favors Driver's License to Finance Police Officers Named

At a meeting of the Fayette County Pomona Grange Tuesday evening, at the Forest Shade Grange Hall in New Martinsburg, the Grange passed a resolution favoring rural police for the state and also a drivers' license law as a companionate measure in order to gain revenues for financing the rural police organization should a measure become a law.

This resolution will be presented on the floor of the Ohio State Grange meeting to be held the second week in December at Sandusky, Ohio.

The Grange gave special warning to all tax payers of the county against the advisability of joining the new Tax Relief Association, an incorporated company controlled by seven directors from the southern counties of the state.

The purpose of this association as claimed by its promoters and organizers is to get a law passed in the next General Assembly in order to get a rebate on money paid in by farmers for abutting property and road improvement assessments. The organizers and promoters of this association are charging a fee of three per cent of the total amount of money which each farmer has been assessed.

Assessments in Fayette County have amounted to approximately $185,000. This new Tax Relief Association representatives of which are now working in Fayette county has failed to receive the endorsement of either the State Grange, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, the local Granges or the Fayette County Tax Payers Association it was stated. These organizations called attention to the fact that in two successive meetings of the Legislature several laws have been passed by the General Assembly to refund money assessed against abutting property and road improvements but in both cases the bill has been vetoed by the Governor on the grounds that such a law would be unconstitutional.

Grange delegates from Fayette County who will carry the resolutions to the State Grange are: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mark and Mr. and Mrs. Job Burris alternates.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Master—Ralph Nisley; Overseer—Ora Allen; Steward—Job Burris; Asst. Steward—Kenneth Arnold; Lady Asst. Steward—Virginia Sollars; Gate Keeper—Ervin Ritter; Lecturer—Mrs. Rex Todhunter; Secretary—Ruth Nisley; Chaplain—Mrs. Chloe Carson; Treasurer—J. M. Carson; Pomona—Mrs. Lola Burris; Ceres—Mrs. Lester Ellis; Flora—Mrs. Ward Will.

TOM TAGGART AGAIN

Indianapolis—(AP)—Thomas D. Taggart, of French Lick, was elected Democratic National Committee man from Indiana by the state committee here Tuesday. He was unopposed and the election was by acclamation. Taggart succeeds the late Charles A. Greathouse of Indianapolis, who died several weeks ago.

CHIVRALROUS BANDIT!

Marion, Ohio—(AP)—A big holdup man led Miss Fanny Burgoyne, 60, to a seat on a nearby porch when she seemed about to faint after he accosted her on her way from church.

"Don't get excited lady, I just want your pocketbook," he said kindly. Then he left with the purse and the 75 cents it contained.

SEEKING ROBBERS

Cincinnati, O.—(AP)—Police Wednesday sought two men who bound and gagged August J. Henkel, president of the Henkel Construction Company, in his downtown office and robbed him of $260.

FORMER RESIDENT IS LAID TO REST

Mrs. Flossie Wohlhuter, 37, daughter of Mrs. C. M. Scott, of Leesburg, who died in White Cross Hospital at Columbus, following an operation, was laid to rest in the Washington cemetery following funeral services held at the First English Lutheran church in Columbus.

Mrs. Wohlhuter in addition to being survived by her mother is survived by her husband, Clarence Wohlhuter, one sister, Mrs. Esther Crono, this city, and one brother, Earl Scott, of near this city.

FIVE MORE TURKEYS FOR WHITE HOUSE

Washington, (AP)—Five more turkeys arrived at the White House Tuesday and with them a Thanksgiving light of anticipation appeared among members of the White House staff.

There are six young turkeys now, including the West Virginia bird which was presented for the holiday sacrifice yesterday.

More are expected and after the White House tables are taken care of, the surplus gobblers will probably be distributed among White House attaches.
